Attracting Love Into Your Life

*It's easier than you think—
and we're here to help.*

A healthy relationship, whether it be with yourself or someone else, is THE ONLY type of relationship you should be in. If you settle for a situation that is “OK for now,” you’re only selling yourself short. Later, when you realize that you weren’t as happy as you could’ve been, you’re going to ask yourself: Why did I put myself through that? Why did I think I was living my life to the fullest? Don’t wait for that moment! Put your foot down and make a change today.

This series of five podcasts, recorded by our professional Advisors, will help you to shift your consciousness so you can attract love into your life in all forms. The podcasts are designed to teach you how to transform thought to action and “want” to “have.” And they’re absolutely free! Here’s a quick summary of each podcast:

Step 1. Open and Heal Your Heart by Psychic Joseph x7535

You hear it all the time: “You have to love yourself before you can love someone else.” As cliché as it sounds, it’s absolutely true. Joseph’s podcast helps you heal your past wounds and remove what’s holding you back.

Step 2. Crystallize Your Vision on What You’re Looking For by Psychic Moira x7776

It’s even harder to find something when you’re not sure what you’re looking for. With Moira’s help, learn exactly what type of relationship you want and what a “soulmate” means to you.

Step 3. Send Your Message to The Universe & Broadcast Your Dreams

by Psychic Seanna x8165

When you partner with the Universe, you’re making your intentions loud and clear—and they will be answered. This podcast helps you learn how to craft your message so you can focus on creating exactly what you want for your love life.

Step 4. Raise Your Vibration by Psychic Kay x7102

There are lots of things you can do to radiate positivity, including focusing on the love you’re looking for. Psychic Kay shows you how to live your happiness NOW and a love interest will be drawn to you like a magnet.

Step 5. Bring Love Into Your Life by Psychic Bonnie x7982

It’s important to prepare yourself adequately before jumping right into this podcast, so this should be your final step. With Bonnie, you get an overview of the entire process so you can make your dreams become reality.

Heart-Warming Love Stories From Real Readings

Our Advisors share amazing love stories that will give you chills and inspire you to heed their advice and find a love of your own!

Amy x7886

A client was struggling with a very dramatic end to her relationship with a man who was non-committal about everything and anything. He would tell her he wanted a long-term relationship but did not show this by his actions. After two years of being on again and off again she decided to leave the relationship. All through her readings, it was consistently shown to me that a new man would come in very unexpectedly. She didn't believe me, even though my predictions in the past came true.

I didn't hear from this client until recently when, lo and behold, she met a great guy! This guy is more than anything and everything she was looking and hoping for! They have been together for 4 happy months and are currently planning their wedding!

Bridgette x8133

On March 17, 2016 I got the call that sent shivers down my spine. "Bridgette," the caller whom we will refer to as Mary said, "I never gave up hope that I would marry again, and last night I got engaged!" Mary went on to tell me how it all began:

"I was having coffee and a bagel at our corner deli and this man came rushing in looking for his car keys. He thought he left them where he was sitting. I moved around a bit but I didn't see any keys so he thanked me for checking and left. I thought to myself: Gee he was cute, but probably married and I'll never see him again. I picked up my newspaper and suddenly saw his car keys with a little key chain that said, "I love New York." I laughed because I have that same key chain. I immediately ran outside to see if I could catch him. I saw him leaning against a car on his cell phone. I walked up and handed him the keys. He immediately hung up and said, "I was about to call the dealership, you saved my life. I have a 10:30 meeting." "Well," I said, "now you won't be late. Incidentally I have that same key chain." He replied, "Oh, my daughter gave it to me. I'm not crazy about the bling but I have to leave it on or she'll kill me." My son gave me that identical keychain. Turns out, both of our children are in their first year of college at the same school!"

And then Mary told me: "Bridgette, I have to tell you for a freaky second I heard your words: 'He will be there out of the blue. But you have to get out. He won't come knocking at your door.' Long story short, he asked me for another cup of coffee and that was the beginning of the most magical journey of my life. Bridgette, I actually heard your words the morning I forced myself to go out for coffee and a bagel: 'Have a childlike belief and trust that your spiritual guides will draw the two of you together.'"

Mandy x8326

Recently I did a reading for a wonderful woman I will call Jenna. Jenna had been single for over two years and was getting frustrated. She wanted to know what the guides had to say about love and if anyone was coming into her life. I immediately got information showing me a computer screen. I then saw what looked like a back and forth conversation via typed words/text. With these visions and confirmation from the guides I concluded that she would meet this person online.

Jenna immediately got upset. She hated the idea of meeting anyone online! Despite her feelings she left the reading knowing that is what her guides had wanted her to do. A few weeks later, Jenna had begun to chat with someone over an item she was selling via an online yard sale. The chatting quickly turned more than professional. Weeks later they are still together! The psychic reading helped her to be more aware of online interactions and lead her to her match. Keep your options open and never rule out what a reader may say even if it doesn't seem to make sense!

Carmaleena x8689

My client had an inner knowing that she was meant to spend her life with her ex-boyfriend. She knew instinctively that their connection was deep and permanent. And, even though they hadn't been together for six months she still held onto the hope that they would reconcile. I assured her that her feelings were correct.

About two weeks after our initial conversation she called me to let me know that he had returned to her life, that they were talking about marriage, and that he was sorry he had left her. She thanked me for confirming for her what she already felt she knew and thanked me for giving her hope. She had listened to her heart and her instincts which allowed the energy to draw them back together.

Stasch x9303

Finding love can feel like torture. The search can drain you of all hope. Recently, I had a client whose quest for love felt like a nightmare without end. All she found in dating was disappointment, humiliation and loneliness. Even though she had a great deal going for her, absolutely nothing felt positive in her life. Her past was a succession of painful events. She felt that no man could ever want her. Every phone call to me ended in tears and this went on for months.

As hopeless as things looked, I saw a happy ending. I just knew that if she kept going and started to really love herself, life would be joyful. Then, as I had predicted, she found Mr. Right—her knight in shining armor. He found her past interesting and they realized that they were soulmates. In her last call to me she was making jokes and laughing. She began coming back to life. No matter how difficult your past, or painful your present, with patience, time and hope, you can find the real you and true love along the journey.

Raquel x9488

A woman I will refer to as Diana called one evening concerned about an upcoming date she had. She had recently met a man who was new to her church and felt a connection. Evidently, he felt the same, for he asked her out on a date not long after their meeting. It has been a while since she had been out with anyone and she was unsure how things were going to go. Being a medium, I immediately felt the distinct presence of a man. A man who loved her dearly. I also picked up that she was feeling guilty about the arrangement. I asked Diana why she felt so guilty about going on the date and who the loving man was.

She was immediately taken aback and explained that she was a widow. Her late husband had passed away a couple of years ago. Diana felt she was betraying her beloved late husband by accepting this man's invitation. I assured her that this was orchestrated by her late husband and advised her to have a wonderful time. He wants her to be happy and no longer lonely. Diane cried on the phone as we said our goodbyes. After a month or so, Diane reached back out to me. She was grateful for the message and said she and her new beau were enjoying their time together. She felt her heart warm to this gentleman and she was open to the possibility of being in love again. Finding love is sometimes the easy part, it is accepting our past that is difficult.

Where Is My Soulmate?

10 Surprising Facts You Need To Know

There's nothing quite like the rush of meeting your soulmate. The feeling is way beyond the typical butterflies in the tummy. In fact, meeting your soulmate can be overwhelming in wonderful ways, and sometimes in frustrating ways too.

You've most likely already met at least one soulmate in your lifetime and didn't even know it! Soulmates come in all different forms. Sometimes the experience can be nothing less than challenging, yet the type of soulmate we all wish for is the one that makes us feel nothing less than blissful. Once we look at soulmates in the proper perspective we can have a deeper understanding of what soulmates truly are and understand why they are sometimes challenging.

The problem is that in the mean time weeding through all of the challenging soulmate connections can be tiring and we may not appreciate that these types of soulmates are actually preparing us for that one true lifemate we are hoping for. For some, the experience of finding a lifemate takes longer than for others. This is not because you're doing anything wrong—there has to be a synergy between you two. As you're going through your changes and learning your necessary lessons, so is your lifemate. In time, the synergy builds up to a perfect unison.

Be patient. You and your soulmate will find each other when the time is right.

Soulmates...

1. are not always love mates.
2. can be all genders, including our own.
3. can be your best friend, your professor, boss, or even a parent.
4. exist due to our connection to them from past lives.
5. have a specific path with us.
6. can be here to teach us, or learn from us.
7. can frustrate us, challenge us, even anger us.
8. that are love mates may be some of our most difficult relationships.
9. will remain in our paths, until we learn our lessons, or teach them, in this lifetime and future lifetimes.
10. are important. The rush of meeting a romantic soulmate can be a flurry of strong emotions. We feel we know them in a deeper way, or even have "memories" of them that didn't happen in this life. That is your soul's connection to that person's soul from a past life experience.
